WEEK OF

_____

Season _____

One row per player, any age. XP comes from quest cards, boss battles, and co-op pulls you decide to count. Log it once a week — that's the whole ceremony. If someone has a rough week, their XP simply stays put; nobody drops a rank and nothing is "owed back." Streaks are celebrated, never required.

Set your own level thresholds (XP needed to reach each level) in the little slots. Suggest starting around 50 XP per level — low enough that a normal week is at least one level for somebody.

CELEBRATE Week-end ceremony

Champion of the week: the party picks by _vote_ — most fun quest, most-likely-to-have-been-invisible-anyway, or best save. Winner: write them here

House rule: XP is never deducted. A week is a season of its own; there is no roll-over debt and no bench. Next week resets to a fresh start for everyone.
